IS NOT CHANGED YET.

Question of the Parade Coming on Main Street Still Unsettled.

THE COMMITTEES TAKE ACTION.

Major Randolph Too Unwell, However, to Receive Their Delegation.

HOW OUR VETERANS WILL FORM.

Orders Issued Yesterday Assigning the Camps—The Military Feature.

Police to Clear the Streets—Notes About the Reunion.

Every true southern heart in Richmond has been stirred with feelings of emotion in the last few days, where the residents of the Capital of the Confederacy—men, women, and children—have been preparing for the sixth annual reunion of the soldiers who fought in defense of the Lost Cause. This mighty gathering of great people will be the most notable event that has ever occurred in Virginia's capital.

The same spirit which moved the women of Richmond in the darkest days of the bloody struggle, and made the name of the southern army emblematic of all that was tender, true, and loving, is reuniting them now in their work to entertain and welcome the gray-haired veterans who have gone down in history as the greatest soldiers the world has ever known.

Already the vanguard of the mighty throng have arrived, the strains of Dixie have been wafted on the air, and the tread of soldiers heard in our streets. They are coming from every portion of the South to once more view the city that has passed through the flames of war and which is now enjoying the prosperity of peace.

LINE OF MARCH DISCUSSED.

There was a meeting at 6 o'clock last evening of the Executive and Advisory committees, and chairmen of all of the committees, at which reports were submitted as to the progress of the work. Hon. J. Taylor Elyson presided. Each committee reported that everything was now in readiness for the reunion. The question as to the line of march for the parade on Thursday was then taken up. The committee was unanimous in the opinion that the parade should by all means go up Main street from Thirteenth to Seventh. It was stated that the two regiments which constituted the guard to the reunion fund had never been on that thoroughfare, which was proposed should be left out of the line of march.

Major Randolph, who has entire charge of the parade, was sick and could not be present, and upon motion the following committee was appointed to confer with him at his residence and state the views of the committee; Hon. J. Taylor Elyson, General Peyton Wise, Judge George L. Christian, General A. L. Phillips, and Colonel E. N. Northern. These gentlemen reported to Major Randolph's residence, found he was too unwell to talk the matter over. Mrs. Randolph received them and informed the committee that her husband would be glad to hear their views.

TO REGISTER THE VETERANS.

The Veterans' Entertainment Committee have opened a general headquarters for registration in the old City Hall, on Capitol street between Ninth and Tenth streets, where veterans are requested to register, and present their names, commands, and present residence. To avoid confusion, an effort will be made to get officials of organized commands to furnish a list of their members present at the reunion, which list will be entered on the books kept at headquarters. Captain M. W. Hazlewood has been placed in charge of the general headquarters. He will be assisted by Rev. Robert H. Mullin and Mr. William T. Baker.

The rooms assigned at States' headquarters on Capitol, between Ninth and Tenth streets, are as follows: No. 1, Alabama; 2, Florida; 3, South Carolina; 4, North Carolina and Oklahoma; 5, Georgia and Indian Territory; 6, Mississippi; 7, Louisiana; 8, Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, and District of Columbia; 9, Tennessee and Kentucky; 10, Texas; 11, Missouri and Arkansas.

REUNION NOTES OF INTEREST.

The old First and Fifteenth Virginia Regiment survivors, as well as all those who served with Pickett, will receive a cordial welcome at headquarters of Pickett's men, corner Ninth and Main streets.

Mr. Virginia Morgan Robinson, of this city, has written a most unique and interesting publication the title of which is "Our Confederate Dead," which has been issued in pamphlet form by the Confederate Memorial Literary Society.

Colonel T. P. Pollard, commanding division Sons of Confederate Veterans, has appointed the following at his aides in the parade of July 3d: Ben, Brockenbrough, chief of staff; Bishop Hindman, of Louisville, Ky.; Watson, Dr. J. C., Morrisette, Dr. P. Cox, George Steers, and four others from visiting camps, and others, desiring that this great reunion may be a grand success in every way. We inform you that we test ourselves against the world, and that we are bound to request that the usual line of march may not be changed on our account, but that it may be so arranged as to embrace Thirteenth, 11th, and Franklin streets, and the two ends. We desire that the work of decorating on lower Main street has been greatly curtailed on account of the route, but it is not too late to do so. The matter, and we hope you will announce the same to the parade committee, some of whom crippled, and all past the age of 50.

Richmond, Va., June 27, 1896.

Major N. V. Randolph, Chief of Staff.

Dear Sir and Comrade.—As there seems to be considerable dissatisfaction as to the route of march, I desire to assure you that because of your order to depart from the route to the south, and the fact that the departure is to be had on account of the weather, in the future not to subject them to too much fatigue, and the wants of Lee and Pickett camps, and others, desiring that this great reunion may be a grand success in every way. We inform you that we test ourselves against the world, and that we are bound to request that the usual line of march may not be changed on our account, but that it may be so arranged as to embrace Thirteenth, 11th, and Franklin streets, and the two ends. We desire that the work of decorating on lower Main street has been greatly curtailed on account of the route, but it is not too late to do so. The matter, and we hope you will announce the same to the parade committee, some of whom crippled, and all past the age of 50.

FOR TRUE HISTORY.

Pleasant Joint Session Last Night of the Two Committees.

WELCOMED BY THE VIRGINIANS.

Speeches Made by Some of the Most Conspicuous Living Officers of the Confederacy—Miss Winnie Davis Will Not Come—Reunion News.

A meeting of the History Committee of the United Confederate Veteran Association was held in one of the parlors of the Jefferson last night, when the members of the History Committee of the Grand Camp of Virginia extended them a greeting to the city. The session was purely social one, and no business whatever was transacted.

Commanders of brigades will see that the camps assigned to them shall be in line and ready to move at the time named. It is urged that this be attended to, as there should be no delay in moving the line on the part of the Grand Camp of Virginia. All aids must report on arrival at the headquarters, No. 602 east Main street, for badges and instructions. All camps must be in line and ready to move by 12 o'clock P.M. precisely. Commanders of camps will report to the headquarters for banners. Grand-Camp officers and aids will report, mounted, to headquarters on Thursday, July 2d, at 9 A. M., for active service.

OTHER ORDERS ISSUED.

General A. L. Phillips has issued an order prohibiting any one from driving a military wagon. All troops are directed to report through their commanders to General Phillips, at 12 o'clock. All camps must be in line and ready to move by 12 o'clock P.M. precisely. Commanders of camps will report to the headquarters for banners. Grand-Camp officers and aids will report, mounted, to headquarters on Thursday, July 2d, at 9 A. M., for active service.

THE MEMORIAL SERVICES.

The Davis memorial service to be held at 12 o'clock will be most impressive and interesting. It will commence at 8:30 o'clock, and the historic edifice will doubtless be crowded to its utmost capacity. Bishops Whittle and Newton, of Virginia; Bishop Capers, of South Carolina, and Bishop Peterkin, of Virginia, will take part. The latter divine will preach an appropriate sermon.

SENATOR STUBBS'S WELCOME.

Senator Stubbs opened the proceedings with an address of welcome in which he spoke of the vastness of the movement to give to the children and to the people of the South a correct history of the late war. Mr. Stubbs paid a glorious tribute to the women of Virginia and the South, and spoke of the press in the kindest terms, saying that every paper in Virginia was Confederate inside and outside, and all over. In conclusion, he told of the efforts to give the people of the South a correct history of the late war.

General Lee responded to Mr. Stubbs in a most feeling manner, and spoke of the women of Virginia and the South, and spoke of the press in the kindest terms, saying that every paper in Virginia was Confederate inside and outside, and all over. In conclusion, he told of the efforts to give the people of the South a correct history of the late war.
